

Guideline for camera license installation of C-MOR Video Surveillance

This guideline describes the installation of the C-MOR Video Surveillance camera licenses. Camera licenses can be ordered by the C-MOR web.

C-MOR installs always as a C-MOR3, with 3 IP cameras. Activating more cameras requires the installation of a camera license code. This code is usually sent by email from C-MOR.

The following information is required for activating more cameras in C-MOR; the username and password, as well as the license key self. Usually you get an email with this information. This looks like for example

Username: your_personal_login
Password: 123abc456
License: 1234abcde67899fghij

Log in to C-MOR for the camera license upgrade via web. For example use <http://192.168.1.2> if you use the default IP address of C-MOR. Log in as user “admin” with the password “admin”. Click on “System Administration” menu on top.

Scroll down to the menu "License Upgrade":

The screenshot shows a vertical menu with four items: "System Restart", "System Shutdown", "Software Update", and "License Upgrade". The "License Upgrade" item is highlighted in a darker grey color. Below the menu, there is a text block: "With this function you can activate up to 15 cameras on this C-MOR!". Below this text is a button labeled "License Upgrade". At the bottom of the menu area is another button labeled "Start Page".

The number of activated camera licenses is shown on top. Enter your license information data which you received from C-MOR by email:

The screenshot shows the "License Upgrade" form. At the top, it says "License Upgrade". Below that, it displays "3 cams licensed". A warning message reads: "Please be careful using this program. It rewrites the license files without any warnings! Make sure C-MOR has free access to the Internet! Activate the C-MOR proxy if necessary." The form contains three input fields: "Username:" with the value "customer_name", "Password:" with "*****", and "License Key:" with "1234abcde67899fghij". A "License Upgrade" button is located below the fields. A second, larger version of the form is shown below, with the same fields and button, but with the "License Key" field highlighted in blue.

After applying the correct information the C-MOR web shows directly how many licenses have been activated:

Reboot C-MOR now by pressing the button “System Restart”.

A warning message pops up.

Click “ok” to restart C-MOR. After the reboot the just granted licenses are activated. After the reboot C-MOR shows all added cameras:
